COMMENTARY

Wool sales were held in the Wednesday, Thursday pattern this week due to the public holiday in Victoria on Tuesday. Losses were again recorded over both selling days however they were far less substantial than the previous week and for the most part the market appeared to be trying to find some sort of stability. In the Northern region the indictor fell 11 cents on Wednesday and a further 13 cents on Thursday. The Northern region indicator closed the week below 1800 cents for the first time since March this year. The largest movements for the week were once again in the broader Crossbred types with the 28 micron indicator dropping 7.5% to record a fortnightly loss of 16.8% or 125 cents. In a relatively small national offering just 21,618 bales were sold for the week. With the market showing less movement than the previous week the passed in rate was halved to 13.6%. Major buyers included PJ Morris, Sequoia and Tianyu. October AWTA testing data was released on Monday with the monthly weight of wool tested across the country showing a large 22.4% decline compared to last season. This equates to an 8.9% decline in production for the first third of the season with South Australia the only state registering an increase.
