COMMENTARY

It was another overall positive week for the wool market however the rise in the headline indicators masks a few chinks in the armour that appeared as the week progressed. Sales were held in a Wednesday/Thursday format this week due to Monday's public holiday in the majority of states. In the Northern region the indicator climbed 11 cents on the opening day and added a further 6 cents on Thursday's close. When looked at in US dollars the market lost 22 cents with the Aussie dollar down 1.65 cents against the US since the previous week's sale. Individual micron indicator results were mixed from plus 50 cents to minus 10 cents. In a small offering this is not uncommon to see these varying results as the quality of the weekly selection, particularly in the finer microns comes into play. 24,823 bales were sold nationally for the week with a passed in rate of 3.3%. Major buyers included PJ Morris, Sequoia and Tianyu with widespread support continuing. Only 2 sales remain for the 2025/26 season. The average gain in prices for the season to date is 66.8%. With the Western region not selling next week the national offering is expected to fall below 22,000 bales.
